

MOVING TO ACTION:
Ending Homelessness through Racial Equity
Presenter Bios

MARK PUTNAM: Mark Putnam is Director of All Home (formerly the Committee to End Homelessness), a broad coalition of government, business, faith communities, nonprofits, and homeless advocates working together to make homelessness rare, brief, and one-time and to reduce racial disparities. Mark started in this position in December 2013.

SHEILA SEBRON: Sheila Sebron is an All Home Coordinating Board Member and Veteran Service Officer with American Legion. She has been an advocate for people experiencing homelessness since early childhood and is inspired her mantra that “homelessness is a situation, not a destination”. Determined to use her “lessons learned” to help others, Sheila has provided peer-to-peer suicide prevention and post suicide support to active duty, military veterans, and their families since the start of the Iraq War.

COUNCILMEMBER DE’SEAN QUINN: Councilmember De’Sean Quinn has served on Tukwila City Council for over 8 years. De’Sean also works in the King County Department of Natural Resources and Parks as a Water Quality Planner and Project Manager and serves as a Board Member for OneAmerica.

REAGEN PRICE: Reagen Price is an anti-racism strategist, facilitator, and advocate. Distinctly focused on organizing within institutions, she’s built a career translating the theory of racial justice into practice. Prior to joining Solid Ground as the Anti-Racism Manager and the Non-Profit Anti-Racism Coalition as a member of the leadership team, Reagen co-founded a capacity building collaborative in Philadelphia that developed analyses of race-based disparities at the intersection of identities, issues, and lived experiences. In 2015, Leadership Philadelphia named Reagen as one of the city’s top 55 Connectors & Keepers.

LAMONT GREEN: LaMont Green is currently a Manager for the City of Seattle’s Race and Social Justice Initiative in the Office for Civil Rights. He intersects his love for Humanity and hunger for Racial & Social Justice by joining with others to transform power structures towards a more equitable and humane society for all. LaMont brings experience in policy analysis, community organizing, criminal justice reform, housing & homelessness issues, youth and young adult engagement, curriculum and training development, research and evaluation, and mental health treatment.

COLLEEN ECHOHAWK: Colleen Echohawk is an enrolled member of the Kithhaki Band of the Pawnee Nation and a member of the Upper Ahtna Athabascan people of Mentasta Lake. Colleen is a member of the All Home Coordinating Board and is the executive director of the Chief Seattle Club, a non-profit dedicated to meeting the needs of homeless and low-income urban Native people in Seattle. She is the founder of the Coalition to End Urban Native Homelessness. In 2016, Colleen was named Crosscut’s 2016 Courage Award Winner.

ROSE HICKMAN: Rose Hickman is a Homeless Services Evaluator with King County specializing in performance monitoring and results-based contracting. She also supports data analysis and reporting for King County’s Equity and Social Justice Initiative. When not at work, Rose enjoys cooking, taking trips with friends, and trying to have intellectual conversations about reality TV.
